Your New Work Serving the Common Good

The Walker Leadership Institute at Eden Theological Seminary introduces NEXT Steps, a program for professionals who have recently or are planning to retire and are exploring new, purpose-filled engagement with their communities. All program activities are designed to stimulate your individual self-discovery and develop a personal plan for your new and meaningful chapter of work and service.

You should take NEXT Steps if:

- You are 55 or up.
- You are a person of faith.
- You want to transition your career experiences and talents to benefit causes of personal importance.
- You want to explore combining your professional skills, the needs of the world and your own beliefs and convictions.

NEXT Steps is a structured program that includes self-discovery through:

- Personal development
- Small group engagement
- Speakers
- Networking
- Career or volunteer guidance

Watch for the announcement of the session leader coming up later this year.
