

Stay up to date with what's happening at Eden!

Do you have questions about community organizing, congregational ministry, helping nonprofits succeed, chaplaincy, or another specialized ministry? Whether you are interested in a degree program or finding a seminar that will help guide you in your own spiritual growth, Eden is the place for you! Read on to learn about opportunities for you, your congregation and friends to participate in Eden's community of learning!

Why Eden Now? Graduates have many reasons for encouraging others to check out Eden Seminary. They know firsthand, the spiritual formation that takes place, that challenges faithful people to work side-by-side and encourages risk of self for the greater good. Click here to listen to some of their specific reasons.

Eden's Center for Lived Faith and Organizing (CLFO) offers opportunities for small groups who are passionate about changing the community for the common good! It's not too late to consider your group's participation in "Souls to the Polls: Moving Beyond Turnout to Integrated Voter Engagement." But hurry! The seminar begins tomorrow, September 15th. It is always the right time to help people you know explore a call to ministry. The Eden community stands ready to assist! In fact, two familiar people to the Eden community now have expanded roles. The seminary welcomes Jenniqua Johnson, Educational Partner/Strategist and Recruiter, and Jill Baker, Director of Academic and Vocational Discernment to the Program team staff. Click here to learn more about Jenniqua \(Jai\) and Jill.

Did you know you can watch Eden's Chapel services on demand?
