

Stay up to date with what's happening at Eden!

#EdenLeadIn isn't just a slogan, it's a way of life for most graduates. Soon, Eden will celebrate the 174th commencement ceremony. For 174 years, the seminary has been equipping people to serve others in more ministry contexts than we can count! Just follow Eden's social media pages (find links at the bottom of this letter) to see what's happening in communities all over the world, led by Eden graduates who are confident and resilient in their call to ministry. Eden's programs go beyond traditional degree programming and include offerings suitable for everyone. We hope you will come join Eden's community of learning!

Act now and register for "Healthy Conflict for Strong Churches," an online ministry resource taking place tomorrow, April 26th, from 9-3 pm CT. Healthy conflict is a necessary part of overcoming challenges and making decisions. When we create cultures of strong relationships and good self-awareness, conflict invites difficult but important conversations that lead to new awareness and opportunities for growth. Join us for the next "Eden Amplify" event, "The Many Faces of Generosity," taking place May 1st, from 5:00-6:00 pm CT. Learning the "many faces" of generosity can be a game changer when pastors preach about generosity, when churches communicate in stewardship campaigns, and how leadership engages individuals in giving of their time, talents, and financial gifts. Click here to register for the free event!

Eden's Center for Lived Faith and Organizing's (CLFO) next course, "Disrupting White Christian Nationalism: Cultural Roots to Election Outcomes," takes place May 3rd, from 12:00-5:00 pm CT. This workshop introduces cultural organizing and congregational preparedness as two strategies to disrupt violence against vulnerable people and communities.
